Company Information

Company Name: Giuliano Automotive Equipment

Company Description:

Giuliano has been active in the automotive equipment field since over 40 years as a manufacturer of tyre service equipment products: tyre changers for car, motorcycle, truck and heavy-duty wheels, lifting equipment for tyre service and wheel balancers.

A brief background history

Based in Correggio, the “homeland” of tyre changers, Giuliano S.p.A. has been manufacturing equipment for car service shops and tyre dealers for over 40 years. Founded as a corporation in 1976 in Carpi (MO), Italy, by Giuliano Maselli and other shareholders, this business enterprise was converted into a limited-liability company in 1980.

In 1981, its headquarters were moved to Correggio (RE), Italy, where Giuliano Company is still located today.

Our first product was a tyre changer sold under the Silver brand, which gained a significant market share in just short time. The key to its success was its superior quality, combined with a highly flexible production system, capable of quickly meeting customers’ needs and providing prompt, efficient service.

In the '90s the company significantly expanded its range of products by adding lifting equipment and setting up its own partially internal production, while obtaining the ISO9001 quality certification in the early 2000s.

As a future-oriented company, Giuliano Industrial has always been convinced that continuous investment in innovation is essential to constant growth. To this end, Giuliano Industrial has been devoting significant resources to advanced research into new technologies and design, so as to be able to improve both safety and quality of work for professional tyre service shops.
